Minnesota Occupational Safety and Health Leadership Award

There is an annual award to recognize those who go above and beyond to improve the safety and health of Minnesota's workplaces. This annual award is named for Arthur E. McCauley, Jr., a former Minnesota Safety Council manager and member of the Minnesota Occupational Safety and Health Advisory Council whose work encompassed the safety excellence traits for this award and is recognized for his determination and drive to improve the safety and health of Minnesota's workplaces. Thus, the Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry created this award to recognize a safety or health professional for safety excellence.
